

Who

Exploring the grey zones between ‘victim’ & ‘perpetrator’

The victim who is killed/injured for being in the wrong place at the wrong time

The victim who disappears

The victim who is a witness/bystander

The grey zone narratives of former combatants
The grey zone narratives of relational/lateral acts of violence

The perpetrator of violence who believes in their cause

The perpetrator of violence who takes up arms to earn a living, or for education subsidies

The perpetrator of violence who takes up arms because they enjoy it or because they can

Choose collaborators in the site of intervention

By understanding the self perception of co-creators and spectators on the ‘victim’/’perpetrator’ continuum

By understanding others’ perception of co-creators and spectators on the ‘victim’/’perpetrator’ continuum

Articulating intention

Understanding the practitioner-researcher's positioning to choose a site of intervention

Understanding the ‘victims’, ‘perpetrators’, and ‘grey zones’ in the chosen site of intervention

Using this understanding to choose co-creators & spectators
